Gentlemen:

Under Task No. 1 of Amendment No. 1 of the contract we plan to employ an outside computer programmer for approximately 10 days.

The programmers name is [redacted] and he will be furnished by [redacted] a firm specializing in advanced computer programming. The charge will be [redacted] per day.

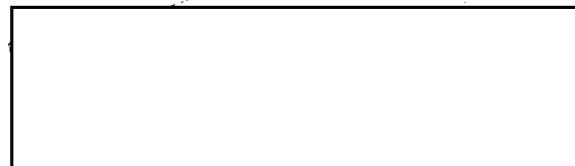

[redacted] and prior to joining EL, he was involved in the programming work under this contract. Because of this factor it will be most efficient to have [redacted] complete this portion of the task rather than attempt to turn it over to another individual.

The daily rate has been determined to be reasonable for this type of service and is comparable to that of other firms in the area. The use of this individual will not increase the present estimated cost of the task.

At the moment, we foresee the requirement to be about 10 days, however we may revise this request at a later date.

We would like to utilize [redacted] immediately, and therefore hope that you will be able to give immediate attention to this request.

Very truly yours,

cc: Technical Monitor
